

CACI Awarded $75 Million Task Order to Deliver Defense Health Readiness Engineering Support for U.S. Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force

Arlington, Va., September 5, 2018 - CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it was awarded a task order with a ceiling value of $75 million by Space and Naval Warfare (SPAWAR) Systems Center Atlantic to deliver defense health readiness engineering support (DHRES) for the U.S. Navy, U.S. Marine Corps, and U.S. Air Force. The five-year task order was awarded under the SeaPort-e vehicle and represents continuing work for CACI in its Health market area.

SPAWAR Systems Center Atlantic provides advanced health information technology solutions that support the nation's military. Under the task order, CACI will provide system integration, training, and support for readiness and operational health information management systems used by the U.S. Navy, U.S. Marine Corps, and U.S. Air Force. The suite of applications managed under DHRES is used by deployed healthcare professionals to document patient care, provide tracking of medical readiness, and management of ancillary services.

CACI President of U.S. Operations DeEtte Gray said, "This award reaffirms CACI's position as a leading provider of operational health information technology solutions for our nation's military. We are committed to improving healthcare and the continuity of care for those who serve at home and those deployed in theaters of operations globally."
