

CACI Awarded $413 Million Contract for U.S. Army Signals Intelligence and Communications Systems Support

Arlington, Va., November 19, 2018 - CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it has been awarded a $413 million prime contract by the General Services Administration (GSA) Federal Acquisition Service (FAS) Federal Systems Integration and Management Center (FEDSIM) on behalf of the U.S. Army Communications-Electronics Research, Development and Engineering Center (CERDEC) Intelligence and Information Warfare Directorate (I2WD) to provide support for ground-based intelligence and communications systems within the Army's TROJAN STRONG family of systems (FoS). This five-year contract represents both the continuation of current support as well as new work in CACI's Command and Control and Intelligence Systems and Support market areas.

The TROJAN STRONG FoS is one of the Army's premier ground intelligence platforms for intelligence collection and dissemination, access to signals intelligence, and fused intelligence data provided in near real-time. CACI will support TROJAN STRONG with engineering services, system design and development, fabrication, testing, fielding, maintenance, modernization, and training to advance the Army's signals intelligence capabilities.

Ken Asbury, CACI's President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "CACI is proud to expand our support for one of the U.S. Army's most critical intelligence missions. By providing high-quality solutions that deliver emerging capabilities to address new and varying threats from unconventional and asymmetric warfare, we help our customers maintain information superiority for America's military and ensure the safety of U.S. forces on the battlefield."
