

CACI Awarded Prime Position on $47 Million Multiple-Award Contract to Support Army Night Vision and Electronic Sensors Directorate Solutions for Special Operations

Work Will Support Mission-Critical Intelligence for Tactical Commands Worldwide

Arlington, Va., February 1, 2017 - CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it has been awarded a prime position on a multiple-award, indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity contract, with a ceiling value of $47 million, to support the U.S. Army's Research Development and Engineering Command (RDECOM) Communications-Electronics Research Development and Engineering Center (CERDEC) Night Vision and Electronic Sensors Directorate (NVESD). The award positions CACI to assist NVESD's Unique Mission Cell in developing and delivering solutions to tactical commands worldwide. The two-year contract represents new work for CACI in its Surveillance and Reconnaissance market area.

The NVESD Unique Mission Cell supports Army, joint expeditionary, special operations, intelligence, and other mission-focused activities by providing rapid access to technology solutions, and identifying capability needs based on the relevancy of technologies to the appropriate community.

Under this contract, CACI will offer engineering and other technical services to tactical commands worldwide, which perform broad, continuous missions. CACI will also offer NVESD and the command and control elements program management, rapid response capabilities, and staff support for delivering new intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance (ISR) technologies, as well as provide related support to headquarters and command and control elements.

John Mengucci, CACI's Chief Operating Officer and President of U.S. Operations, said, "CACI will leverage its deep knowledge of this customer's mission to enable commands to anticipate and rapidly respond to intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance requirements."

According to CACI President and Chief Executive Officer Ken Asbury, "CACI is proud to continue our partnership with the U.S. Army's RDECOM CERDEC Night Vision and Electronic Sensors Directorate to provide U.S. special operators with the information they need to complete some of our military's most dangerous and challenging missions."

CACI provides information solutions and services in support of national security missions and government transformation for Intelligence, Defense, and Federal Civilian customers. A Fortune magazine World's Most Admired Company in the IT Services industry, CACI is a member of the Fortune 1000 Largest Companies, the Russell 2000 Index, and the S&P SmallCap600 Index. CACI's sustained commitment to ethics and integrity defines its corporate culture and drives its success. With approximately 20,000 employees worldwide, CACI provides dynamic career opportunities for military veterans and industry professionals to support the nation's most critical missions. Join us! www.caci.com.

There are statements made herein which do not address historical facts, and therefore could be interpreted to be forward-looking statements as that term is defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements are subject to factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from anticipated results. The factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated include, but are not limited to, the risk factors set forth in CACI's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2016, and other such filings that CACI makes with the Securities and Exchange Commission from time to time. Any forward-looking statements should not be unduly relied upon and only speak as of the date hereof.

###

Corporate Communications and Media:
Jody Brown, Executive Vice President, Public Relations
media@caci.com

CACI-Contract Awards/Markets We Serve