

CACI Awarded $162 Million Task Order to Support U.S. Army Project Manager Mission Command

Arlington, Va., October 9, 2018 - CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it has been awarded a task order, with a ceiling value of $162 million, to provide engineering, logistics, and business management support to the U.S. Army's Project Manager Mission Command (PM MC). The five-year task order, awarded under the General Services Administration OASIS contract, represents new work for CACI in its Communications market area.

PM MC develops, deploys, and sustains integrated mission command and situational awareness capabilities to the U.S. Army and joint forces both across the U.S. and worldwide. Under this task order, CACI will provide full lifecycle support of all product management, training, and technical services for selected current and future PM MC products and programs. CACI will support the development and integration of technical solutions to mission command platforms to assure data accuracy and reliability.

According to CACI President and Chief Executive Officer Ken Asbury, "CACI's new business with the U.S. Army's Project Manager Mission Command recognizes the value of the innovative technology we offer to meet the Armed Forces' most complex engineering, logistics, and business management challenges. We are committed to providing advanced solutions that give America's military a decisive edge in completing the critical missions that help safeguard our nation."
