

CACI Supports Spookstock's Establishment of The Ken Asbury Mentorship Program

Arlington, Va., November 12, 2019 - CACI International Inc (NYSE:CACI) announced today its support of the establishment of The Ken Asbury Mentorship Program by the Spookstock Foundation. The Foundation organizes concert fundraisers with all proceeds donated to support the well-being and educational needs of the children of fallen or severely wounded special operations warriors and intelligence community officers.

CACI is a national security company delivering expertise and technology to the intelligence community and Department of Defense customers. The company's alignment to national security is shared in its long history of philanthropic support to charitable organizations dedicated to supporting veterans, wounded warriors, and STEM education.

The establishment of The Ken Asbury Mentorship Program in honor of Ken Asbury, former CACI President and Chief Executive Officer from 2013 until his retirement from the company in 2019. Under Ken's leadership, CACI began its unwavering support to the Spookstock Foundation. Throughout his career and continuing today, Ken has been a vigilant champion of veterans and students. The Ken Asbury Mentorship Program will connect industry leaders and inspired students to prepare them for their academic, career, and life paths. CACI will support The Ken Asbury Mentorship Program through financial donations, leadership mentors, and internships.

John Mengucci, CACI President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "CACI is aligned with the missions of the intelligence and special operations communities to safeguard America's security. We proudly support the future of the children of our fallen heroes through our support of the Ken Asbury Mentorship Program. All of us at CACI honor Ken for his phenomenal contributions to the leaders of tomorrow, the mission of the Spookstock Foundation, and our nation's future."
