

CACI Awarded a $64 Million Task Order for Air Force Distributed Common Ground System (DCGS) Shelter Operations

RESTON, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it has been awarded a five-year task order valued up to $64 million to provide complete life cycle hardware and systems engineering for the U.S. Air Force Distributed Common Ground System (DCGS).

CACI's proven mobile technologies deliver scalable, customizable mobile command, control, computers, and communications (C4) capabilities. This technology award will support the Air Force Life Cycle Management Center Command, Control, and Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance (C2ISR) Division under the Program Executive Office (PEO) – Digital Directorate by implementing a wide range of modifications and upgrades for its DCGS shelter operations, enabling the resiliency of forward operating location ground stations for effective quick reaction capabilities.

“Our C4 mobile technology experts are well-versed in developing advanced shelters for dispersed, remote, and challenging environments that ensure the rapid delivery of critical information for the warfighter,” said John Mengucci, CACI President and Chief Executive Officer. “Decades of investment, expertise, and unique innovations in resilient shelter protection ensure mission survivability and effectiveness for modern global operations.”

For DCGS, the company will maintain and sustain numerous mobile and transportable systems throughout their life cycle. As mission requirements dictate, CACI will also develop and procure additional components and systems with secure, reliable C4, optimum intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance (ISR) operations, and critical processing, exploitation, and dissemination functions.
