

CACI Awarded $199 Million Task Order by U.S. Army Program Executive Office for Command, Control and Communications - Tactical (PEO C3T)

Reston, Va., – CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it has secured a single-award task order valued at up to $199 million with a five-year period of performance to provide expertise to the U.S. Army Program Executive Office for Command, Control and Communications – Tactical (PEO C3T). CACI's support to PEO C3T enables the development and delivery of hybrid architectures for the suite of warfighter command and control (C2) functions, including agnostic hardware, software and data transport. This powerful combination increases flexibility and efficiency for the warfighter by bridging their tactical and enterprise environments.

“At CACI, we have a deep understanding of PEO C3T's mission requirements to support large-scale operations through advanced C2 architectures, assured communications and data management, and a resilient networking environment that is resistant to cyber and electronic threats,” said John Mengucci, CACI President and Chief Executive Officer. “Our rapidly deployable and configurable solutions are uniquely positioned to couple innovative approaches with emerging technologies to offer the lowest risk to the Army, while also delivering an increased probability of warfighter success.”

Under this award, CACI will assist Program Manager Mission Command (PM MC) identify and implement systems and architectures to accelerate the delivery of warfighter functions to tactical units. CACI will leverage containerization and microservices concepts to enable faster integration, easier sustainment, and increased system resiliency. CACI will also provide PM MC with a Communities of Practice (CoPs) approach that promotes information data exchange, certification achievement, and training across multiple domains.
