

CACI Continues Providing Forensic Analysis and Exploitation to U.S. Army DEVCOM C5ISR Center

RESTON, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) announced today that it has received a ceiling increase valued at more than $140.5 million for the remaining three years of its existing five-year contract to continue providing comprehensive forensic exploitation support to the U.S. Army Development Command (DEVCOM) Command, Control, Communications, Computers, Cyber, Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance (C5ISR) Center. With this increase, the total contract value will be more than $560 million. This critical work directly safeguards warfighters engaged in domestic and international missions who need timely, operationally relevant intelligence and capabilities.

“CACI’s proven forensic exploitation capabilities transform complex data into actionable intelligence, giving soldiers deeper threat awareness and practical solutions that keep pace with evolving adversary technologies and tactics,” said John Mengucci, CACI President and Chief Executive Officer. “As a national security company with an embedded combatant command presence, CACI brings a mission understanding that is difficult to replicate. This unique position accelerates innovation, increases speed and efficiency, and enables us to rapidly apply advanced technologies to anticipate and defeat emerging threats.”

CACI’s team of experts apply scientific processes to analyze and report findings from sensitive materials and turn those findings into mission-ready tools, realistic threat replicas, and training solutions. This solution accelerates capability delivery and improves warfighter readiness in support of national security missions.
